

Anti-Slavery Office,

Boston, April 12, 1850.

Dear Miss Weston,

We had a very capital meeting yesterday of the Old Colony A.S. Society at North Bridgewater - Garrison, Phillips, F. Jackson & myself being there from Boston, and your good neighbours, Mr. & Mrs. Richards from Weymouth, &c. &c.

We were not a little sorry to hear that you had been some time ill. But I trust that you will recover as fast as possible, so as to attend the Annual Meeting in New York, at which it is so desirable that you should be. Let me tell you a little piece of good news, (unless somebody has forestalled me in telling it), which will perhaps have a reviving effect. - Mr. Garrison has recently received a communication from a "miser" or "solicitor", or some such person of

Edinburgh, informing him that by the will of a lately-deceased lady (Mrs. Margaret Sanson, or some such name) a bequest of the value of £80. to £100. is left to the American Antislavery Society; & requests him to notify the said writer in Edinburgh, how it shall be paid or transmitted.
The bequest is tied up (!) by one condition, viz.
that it, or any part of it, shall never be used to purchase the freedom of any slave!
The condition, I will guarantee, shall be faithfully observed!

I hope that you will not consider me as intruding, if I inquire if it be not time that the announcement of the next National Antislavery Bazaar was made in the Standard & Liberator?

With sincere respect to all your circle, I am Very truly Yours
Samuel May Jr

Mr. Ralphy met Wendell in the street this morning, and told him that he thought he had, in his 'Reviews', completely sewed
Mr. Webster up!

You will perceive that, sometimes,
"London Superfine" paper is used at the A.S. Office! How good a thing, to have an friendly Mr. Prentiss to bless our eyes therewith at times!
